REPELLED HIS ATTENTIONS. His attentions to Miss Seitz were pronounced, though said to be unwelcome to her. She is said to have asked him to discontinue calling on her and that he declined. Among her letters was one from him asking her to make an appointment with him.

Another witness was Thomas M. DuDon, who found the body. He said that the water was not more than eight inches deep, and expressed the opinion that it would have been almost impossible for the girl to have drowned herself. He also said that he saw only two footprints, but that, as the bank was grass-covered, they were not clearly visible.

COAL NEEDED FOR AQUARIUM AND ZOO. The continuation of the strike in the coal regions is sorely felt by the Department of Parks, according to Charles H. Woodward, the Superintendent of Supplies.

NO CHARITY COAL. None of the charitable societies in this city have yet made provision for the distribution of fuel among the poor, though it is evident that there will be more people suffering from its lack this year than ever before.

SCREAMS OF MURDER. According to his story, this person declares that on the night of the murder of Miss Seitz he saw a man who was carrying a bundle of coal towards the water.
